WELCOME TO LOUIE'S

Enjoy the old-school ambiance, original wooden booths sentimentally etched by our loyal customers, the black and white art deco floors worn by time, turn of the century tin ceilings and faded murals tell tale of a bygone era. Sit back, relax, enjoy the smell of simmering tomatoes and hot pizza, feel the warmth and camaraderie, hear the laughter and conversation of happy diners and you feel like you are home again, somewhere familiar, comfortable, affordable, family centered and "ORIGINAL".

LOUIE'S HISTORY

Louie's was founded in 1929 by Italian immigrant Louie Bianchi. Louie's was Originally established on Main Street, in the Heart of Louisville. After losing his lease on Main Street, Louie Bianchi dismantled his original coal fired brick oven and moved it to 271 Clay Street where he continued to run and grow his business and refine his pizza recipe to perfection.

Bianchi ran his business until 1954 when he sold the pizzeria to the Romano Brothers. Augustine Romano bought the business from his brothers and he continued to own and operate Louie's pizzeria until he passed away in 1984, passing his legacy on.

LOUIE'S MENU

The "Hallmarks" of Louie's of Clay St. are the coal fired brick ovens that churn out hundreds of crispy pizza's daily. It's a different world than it was in 1929, but we are still making the same traditional coal fired pizza in the oven that started it all back on Main Street.
